It's time to send the kids back to school and get them excited about learning again. Cook sheds make a great asset to nurturing a learning environment for your kids.

Make a playhouse/learning center for your kids to enjoy when they get home from school. Transform your shed into a homeschool for your kids. Or, make more room for yourself in the house by making the shed your college student's storage and guest house.

No matter what age your student is, a Cook shed can help make this school year a little easier for everyone!

PLAYHOUSE/LEARNING CENTER

Who says learning can't be fun? Create a designated homework corner and then have the rest of the room featuring fun learning activities. This will give kids a focused place to learn and play each afternoon when they get off the bus.

Options to keep kids occupied:

- Build a puppet show stage
- Have a cozy reading nook and library
- Have a specific table for homework projects
- Create an art studio

Benefits:

- Keep your home looking cleaner while they enjoy their toys and work on homework projects in your portable building.
- Keep them focused, away from TV and video games while they're working on homework.

HOMESCHOOL

Are you planning to homeschool your kids this year? You can create a simple learning environment for your kids using a Cook Shed! Your kids will enjoy having a specific place they can learn in and you'll enjoy not having to shuffle papers off the kitchen table every evening.

Benefits:

- Helps your kids separate play time in the house from learning time in the portable building
- Keeps your educational items and lessons organized in one place
- Helps keep your kids focused on the task at hand without distractions from the tv or toys
- Keeps homeschool clutter from taking over your home

Room setup:

- Paint one wall with chalkboard paint or install a whiteboard
- Have space for hands-on projects
- Designate space for each student
- Have inspirational quotes as decoration around the room. Check out this one to print for free!
- Add bright colored curtains and paint to the walls to give it a cheery atmosphere for learning.
- Work with an electrician to learn the best, safest way to add electricity, air conditioning and heat.

If you choose a larger portable building option, you may have enough space to invite other area homeschooled children for a special group project.

COLLEGE STUDENT'S GUEST HOUSE AND STORAGE CENTER

When the kids go away to college, you may want to consider changing their old room into something you'll actually use. You may want an indoor gym, a craft room or simply an upscale guest room. A portable building is perfect to store all of their extra belongings they decided to leave at home.

Plus, when they return home, they will have a place to store their furniture and possibly even store them! You can make the shed their own little home away from home, as an outside storage room and guest house for them to call their own.

Benefits:

- Designated place for all of your college student's extras
- Gives your college student a sense of freedom when they come home for a break
- Clears up space in your home for hobbies or extras
